

Roc Stompa Master Cylinder Cap

Every now and then you look for something just a little different to personalise your bike with. We were at the Melbourne Bike Expo talking with Daniel from Roc Stompa about customising bikes when he threw one of these little billet beauties our way. It may not make you ride any better, but it makes the bike look faster and that's more important.

The billet Master Cylinder Cap fits on easily, you just slip on the rubber boot from your original brake cap, do up the screws and the job's done.

They come in six anodised colours to suit all bikes.

He was right about us not riding any better, but the top looks a million dollars and is a lot stronger than the OEM one.

Nicely finished and different enough to stand out.
